Transcriber's Office

February 17, 1999 LB 461

But I don't want to undertake anything approaching a significant rewrite of the bill on the floor. Senator Beutler did raise some of the questions that occurred to me, but I'm not in a position to do anything about any of that right at this point. Senator Schimek and Senator Cudaback, as a result of the discussions we had, pointed out that the issues that had troubled me earlier will be taken care of under existing provisions of law. So these discussions do have a value. Matters are placed in the record which may, at some time, be of concern to somebody. It will be clear that they were considered and they were covered. I'm not sure how I ultimately will vote on this bill, but at this point I'm not going to try to stop it or impede its movement. But I will say this again, more and more bills are being brought to us which manifest an unwillingness by people who seek these various positions to discharge the duties associated with those positions. If they think that the distances that have to be traveled will be too great, don't agree to be on that board or agency. However, if what is being offered by Senator Cudaback is adopted ultimately by the Legislature and enacted into law, people who serve on these various entities will know that they're not going to have to travel to at least half of the meetings. And they will make it a point, I'm sure, to keep those...that half of the meetings under one hour so that they don't have to travel. And we're going to reach a point, brothers and sisters, where form takes priority over substance. Agreements and discussions will be engaged in other than through a meeting of all of the members of this entity. Senator Cudaback will call Senator Chris Peterson. They'll hang up. Senator Chris Peterson will call Senator Redfield. Then Senator Redfield will call me. And since we don't ever have a quorum, none of this constitutes a public meeting, but all of the decisions will have been made by contacting all the members in this manner. Then it will be very easy to have one of these teleconferencing phone calls and keep it under a half hour, because everything has been agreed on. You allow the public to go through the routine or the form of asking questions and making comments, but that input means nothing, because the developmental discussion has already taken place among the members, and they know how they're going to vote, and they know what action they're going to undertake. People have always talked about the Unicameral Legislature as being so wide open to the public. I have heard others boast
